PROVIDENT Insurance, based in Halifax, has been nominated to receive a Business Committed to the Environment award for its motor claims environmental supply chain programme.

The awards, to be presented on May 31, recognise businesses whose activities enhance or protect the environment. UK winners of the awards are also nominated for the European Environmental awards.

Provident Insurance's environmental supply chain programme helps suppliers to better manage the environmental impacts of their businesses. This involves identifying "high risk" suppliers and assisting them to reduce the environmental impact of their activities.
