

Backing for garage repairs standard

Published Date: 13 March 2007

Source: Evening Courier

Location: Halifax

By Carmel Harrison

PROVIDENT Insurance, with more than 400 employees in Calderdale, has backed a BSI Kitemark scheme designed to guarantee motorists high repair standards.

Working with motor insurance repair research company, Thatcham, the accreditation will guarantee motorists their chosen garage is meeting strict guidelines in skills, repair methods, equipment and materials.

Mark Baldwin, of Provident, said the scheme had been developed to assure customers and insurers that vehicles were being repaired using safe and demonstrably quality procedures.

"We want to instill confidence in our customers that work is being carried out to a high standard," he said.

Last Updated: 13 March 2007